CHALLENGE OF THE GOBOTS™

AVALANCHE!

High in the mountains, a tremendous battle rages between the Guardians Leader-1 and Turbo, and the evil Renegades Crasher and Cop-Tur.

"Crash, bash, smash and trash them!" shrieks Crasher.

"Thrash, slash and mash them!" adds Cop-Tur.

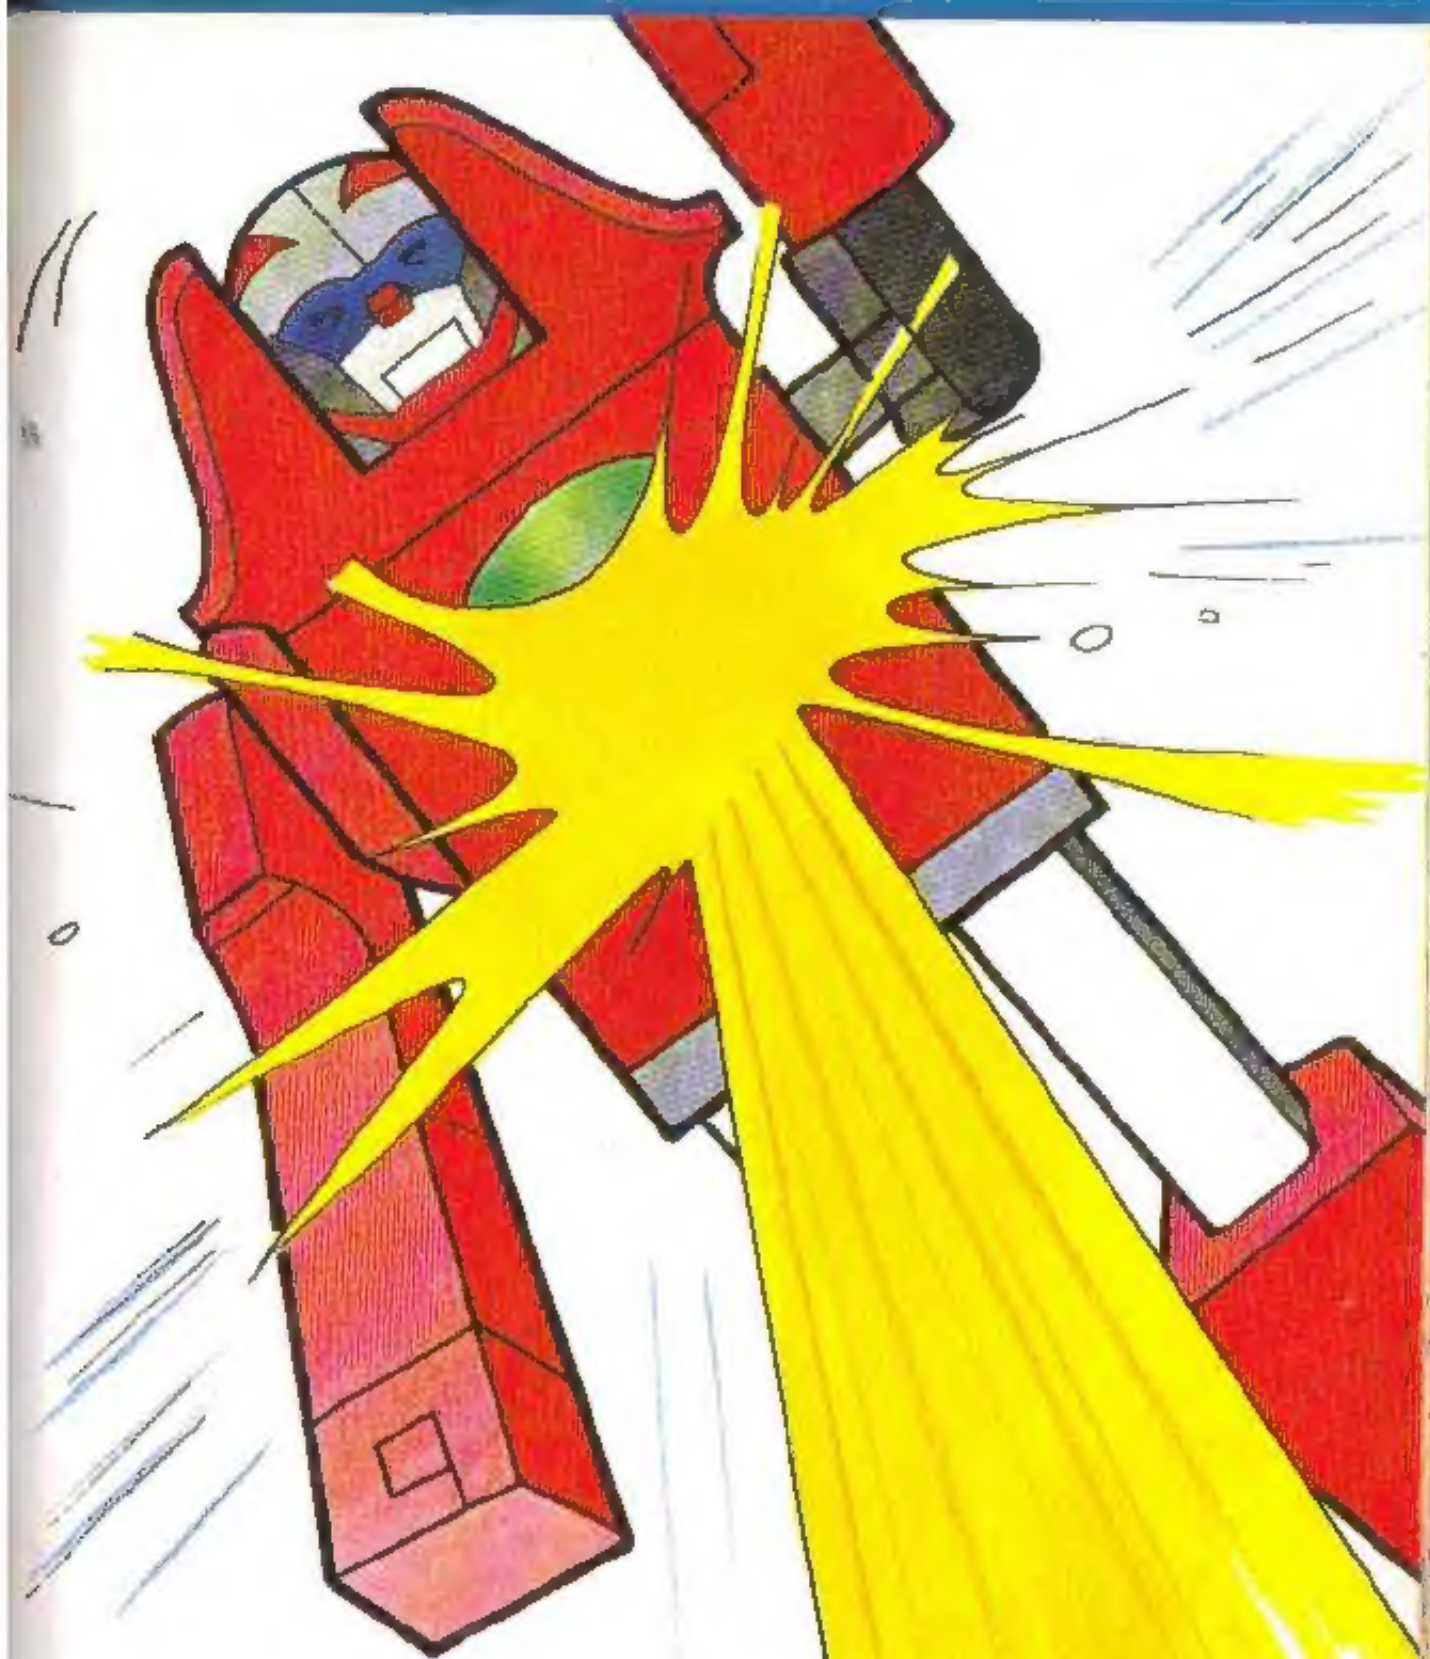

Speeding towards the scene of the fighting comes Cy-Kill, the vicious leader of the Renegades, desperate to conquer the earth and use it as a base to attack GoBotron. But first he must destroy the Guardians.

Cy-Kill arrives as the battle reaches its height. So fierce is the fighting that at first neither Leader-1 nor Turbo is aware of his arrival. Smiling cruelly, the calculating criminal takes careful aim at Leader-1's unprotected back.

"Look out, Leader-1!" warns Turbo, diving forward as Cy-Kill fires. The beam strikes the heroic Guardian on the chest with stupendous force. The sound of Crasher's maniacal laughter is joined by a low rumbling sound.

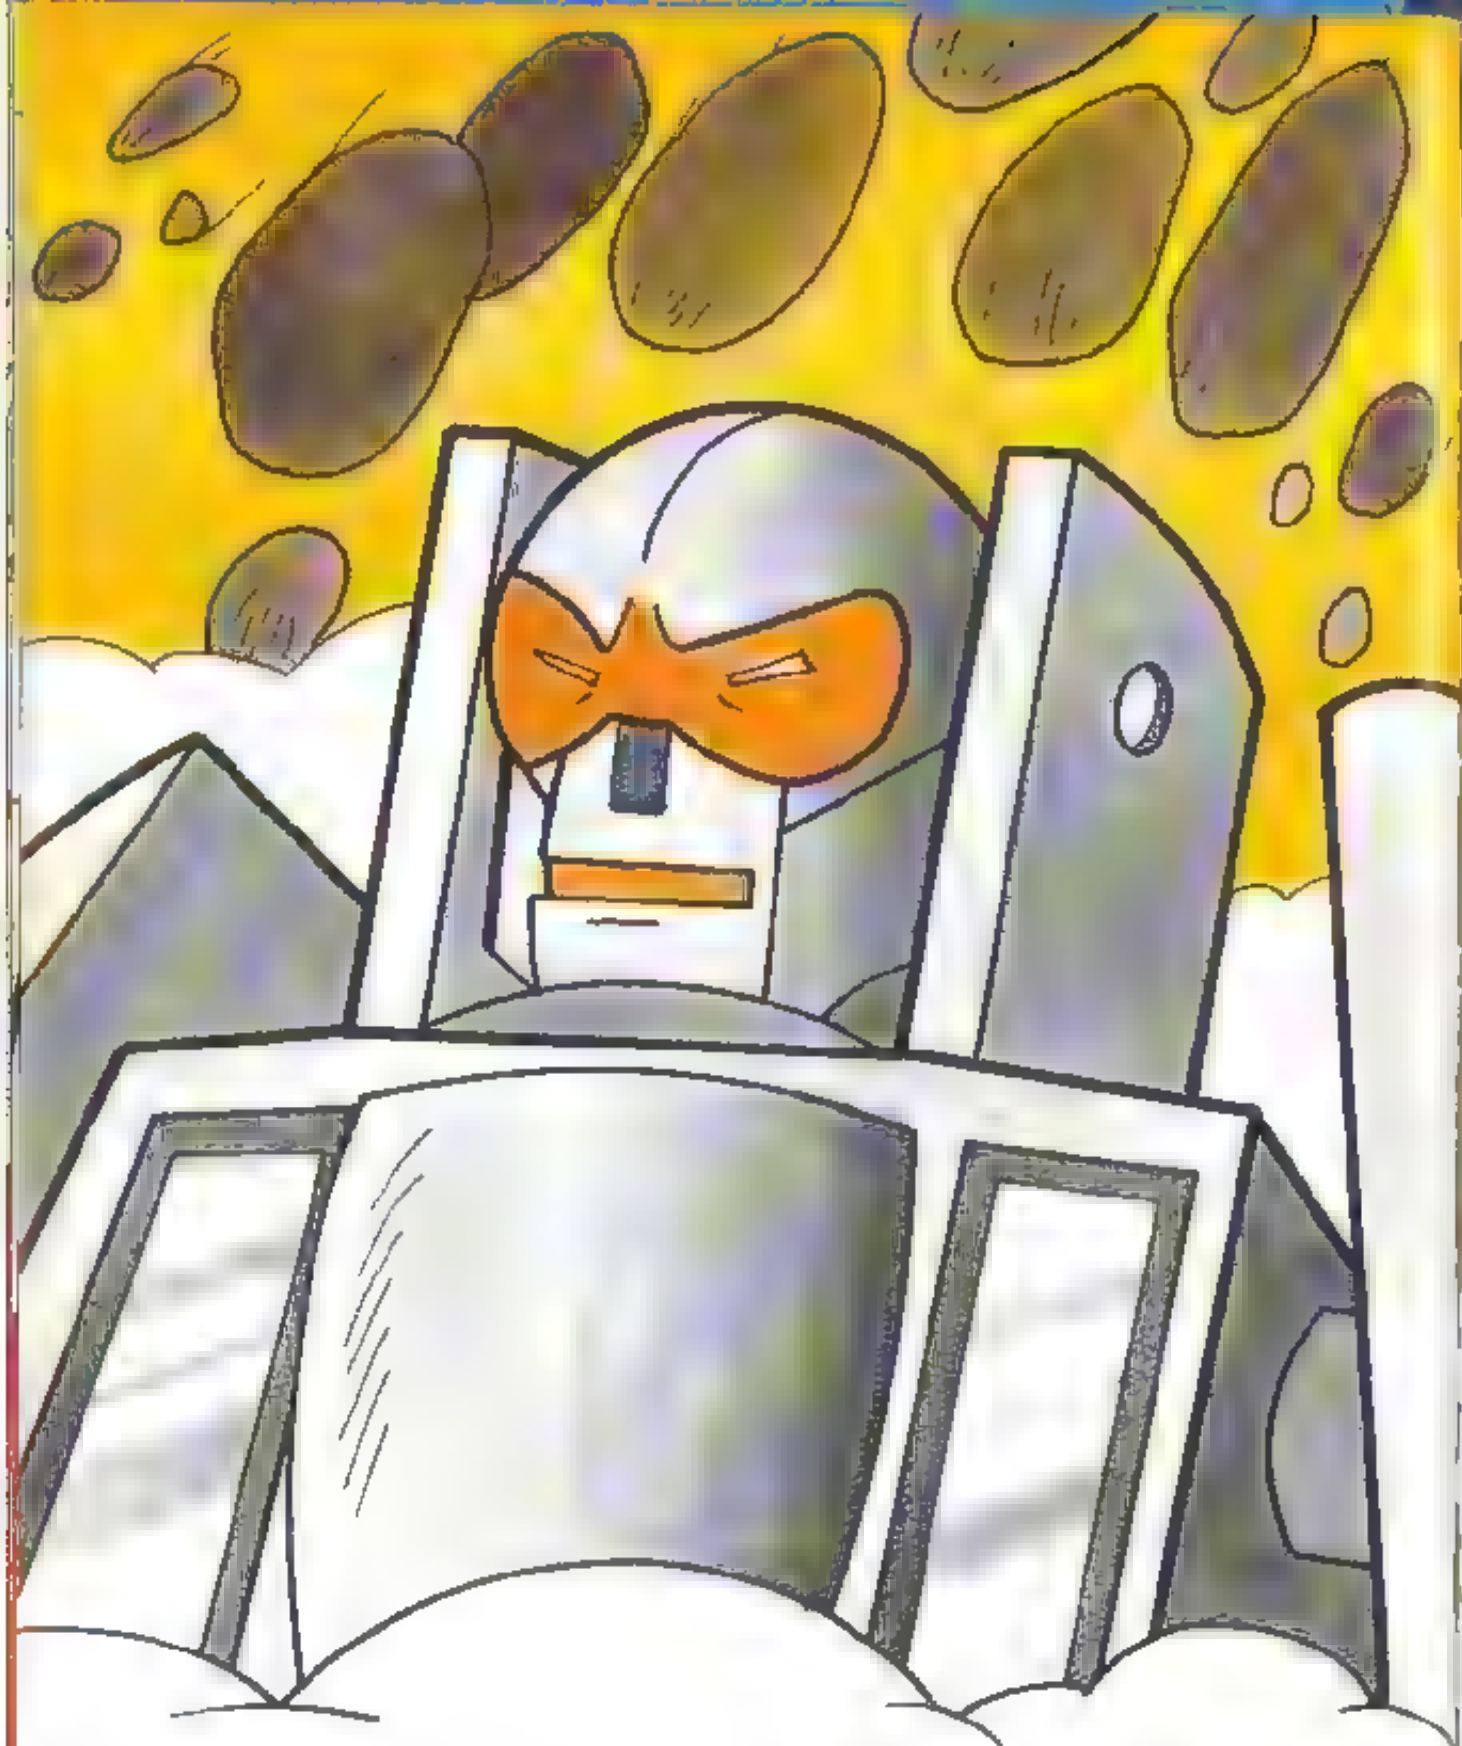

Cy-Kill looks up and smiles coldly as Leader-1 kneels by his stricken companion. "It would appear a stray blast has started a landslide!" he mocks gloatingly. "Now you will be buried forever under thousands of tonnes of rock!"

As Cy-Kill and his evil minions roar off into the air, Turbo tries bravely to get to his feet. "It's no good," he gasps as the thundering rockslide grows closer. "Save yourself, Leader-1. Go! Get out of here!"

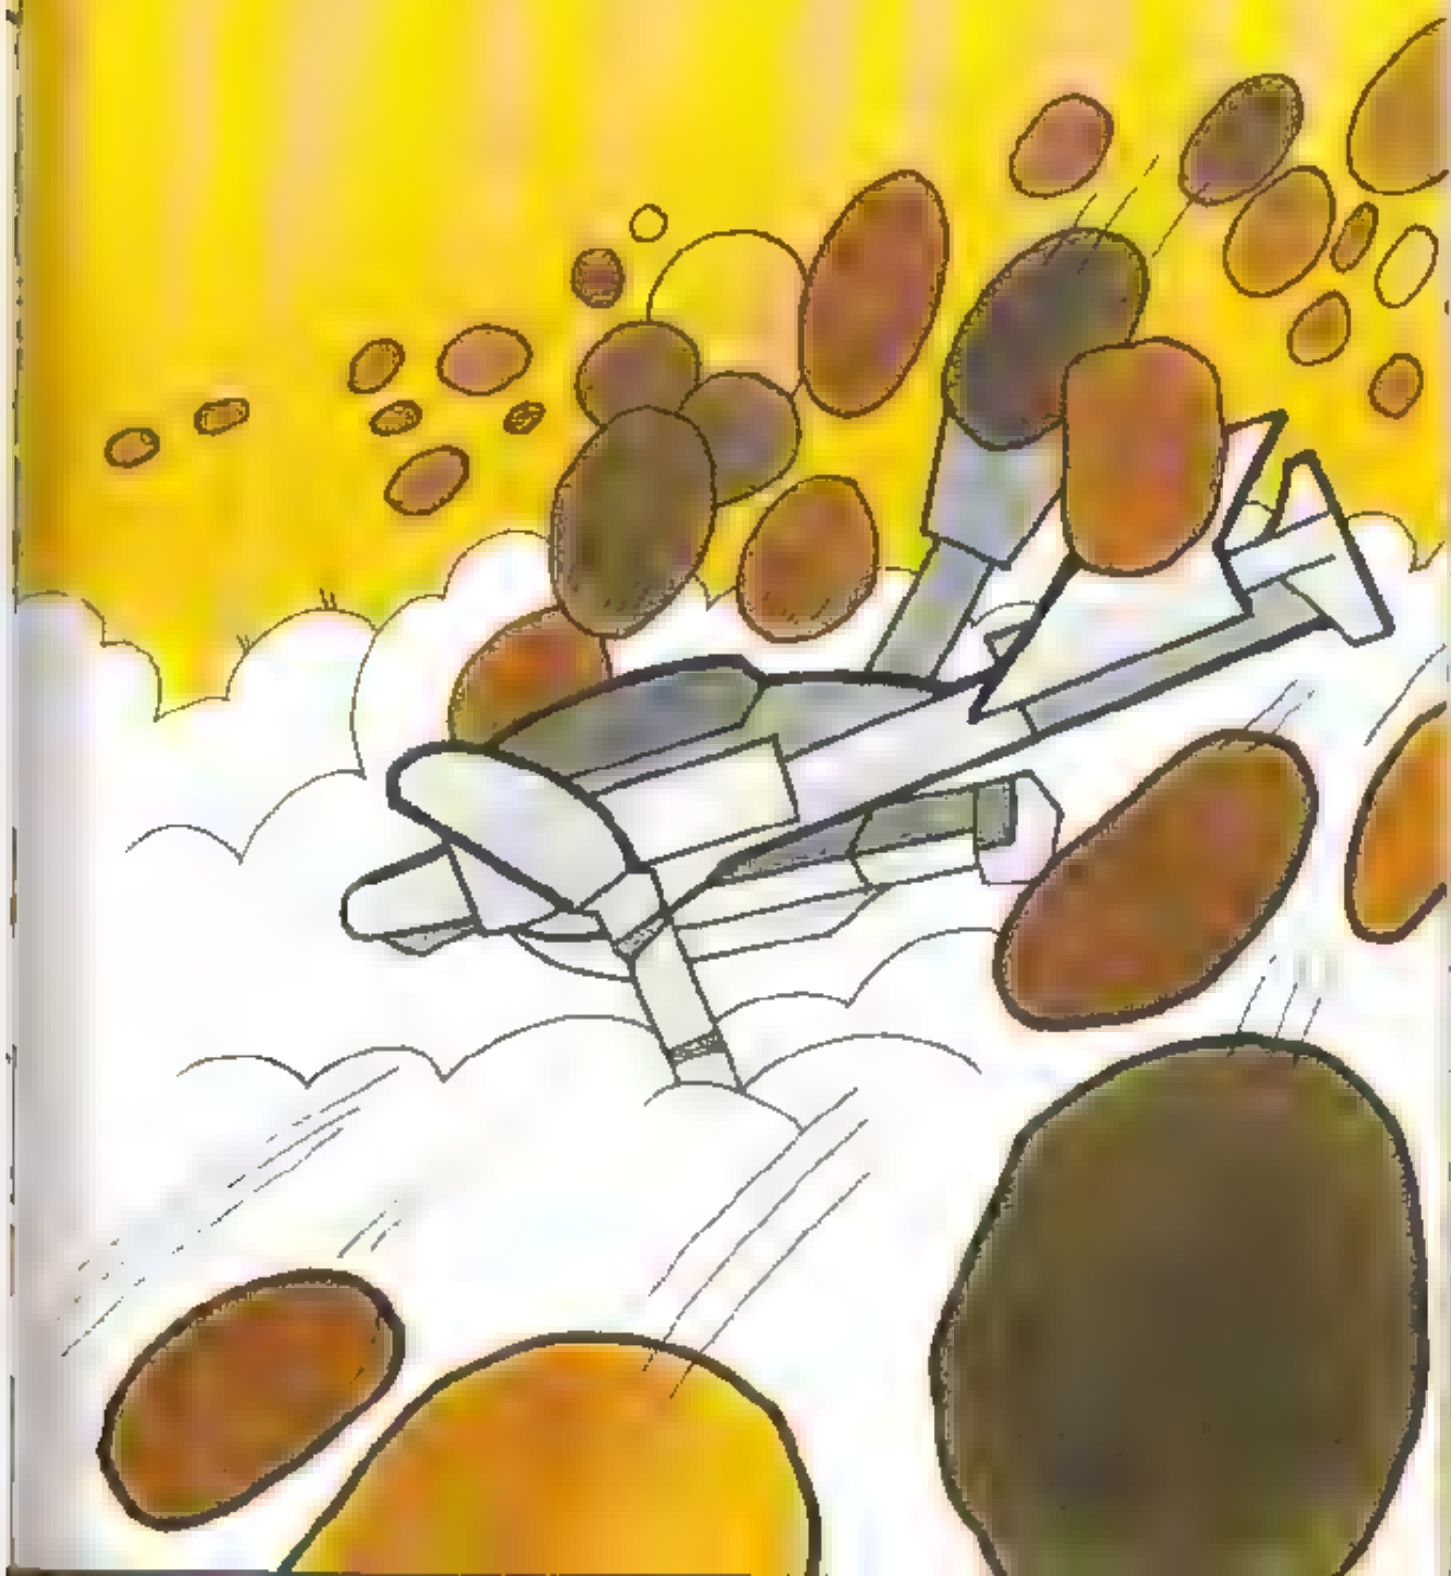

Leader-1 lifts up the injured Guardian. "I thought I gave the orders round here," he chides gently, turning his back to the hurtling mass of falling rock. It is almost upon them. He knows there is no escape.

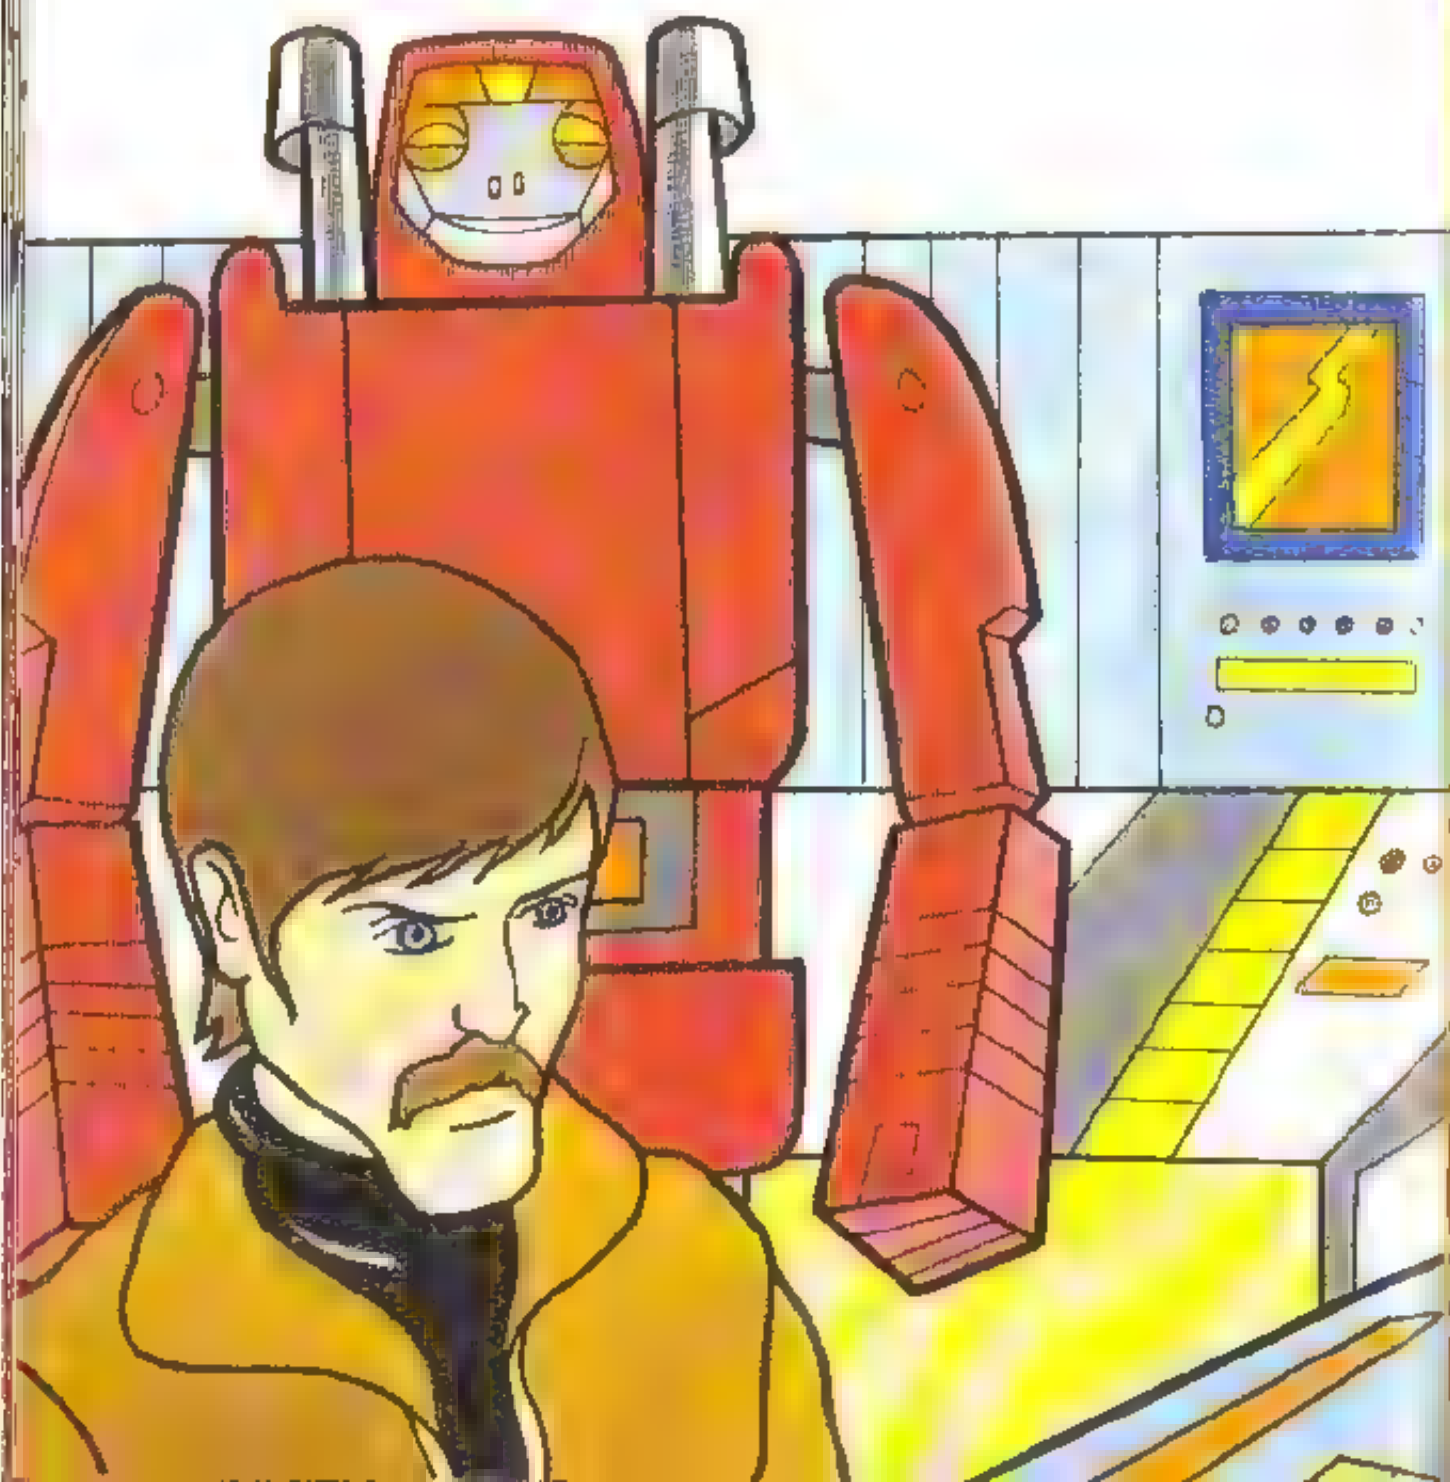

The speeding wave of bouncing boulders engulfs Leader 1. The power of the roaring avalanche sends the massive Guardian leader tumbling and rolling down the mountainside. And all the time, he tries to shield Turbo from the worst of the onslaught.

Back at the Command Centre, Scooter grows alarmed. "We've got trouble," he worriedly informs Matt, A.J. and Nick. "Leader-1's signal has stopped transmitting. And so has Turbo's!"

"You stay and man the controls," Matt tells Nick. "We've got to find out what's happened!"

Within seconds, Matt and A.J. are clinging on tight as Scooter powers his way to the place where the transmissions so suddenly ceased. Both wear worried frowns. If they could see inside Professor Braxis' mountain retreat they would be more worried still.

"Brilliant! Marvellous!" rants the Professor to the three Renegades. "Now we have got rid of the accursed Leader-1 and his numbskull companion, we can put our plan to conquer the world into operation. Are you ready?"

"We are ready," says Cy-Kill. "And when Earth is ours, we move on GoBotron!"

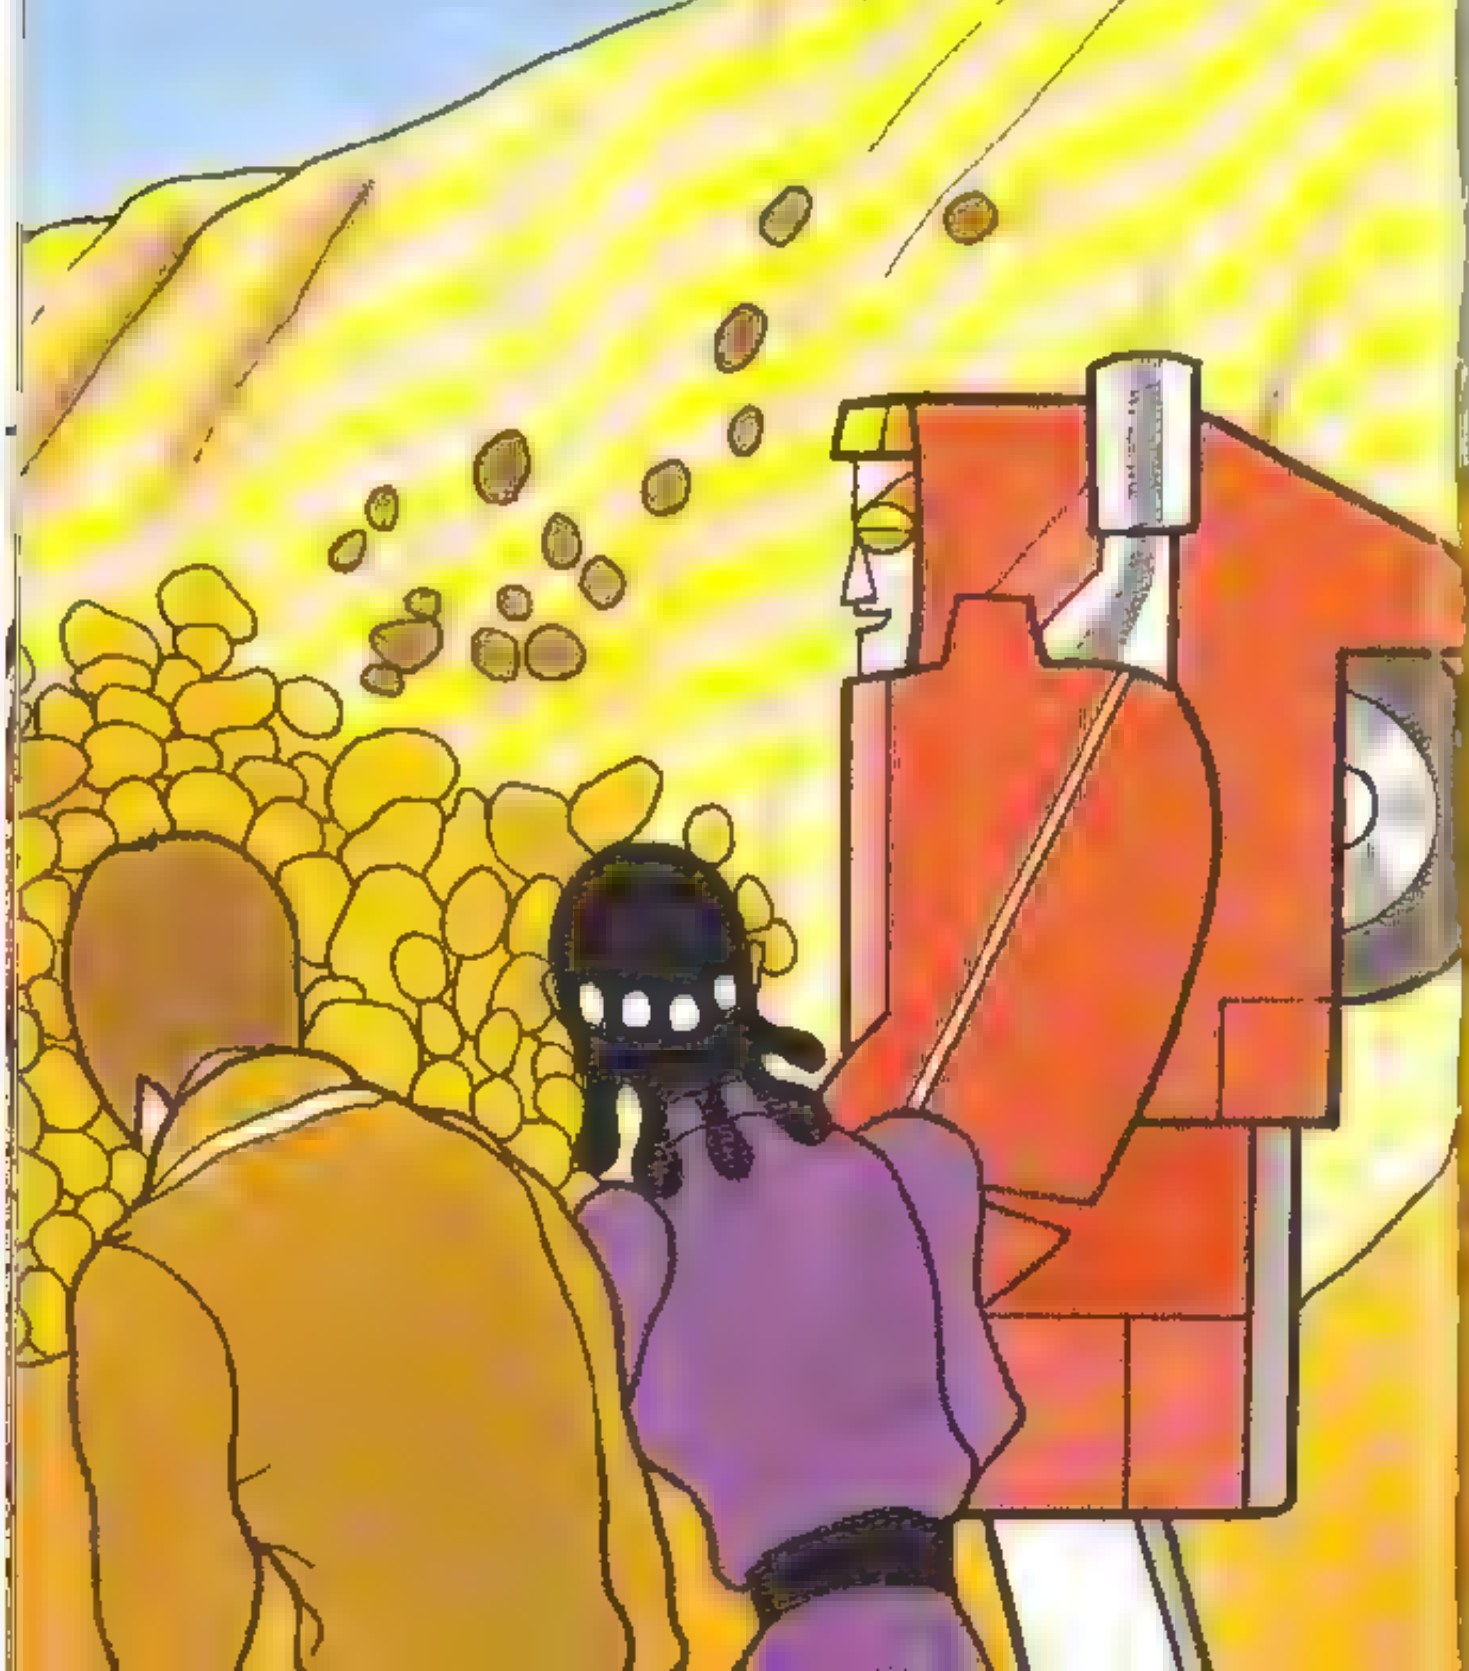

The Professor watches as the three Renegades set out on their treacherous mission. The smile on his face is one of evil anticipation. He knows that the sooner the terrible trio wreak their havoc, the sooner he will be installed as sole ruler of the entire globe!

Back in the mountains, Matt, A.J. and Scooter stare down sadly at the massive mound of fallen rock at the bottom of the ravine. "There must be millions of tonnes down there," observes Matt. "Even Leader-1 couldn't dig his way out from underneath all that!"

But Scooter has an idea. After a lightning shape-change he turns into a mechanical digger and sets to work moving the rubble. His giant bucket digs deep into the piles of rock as Matt and A.J. shout encouragement.

Suddenly Scooter stops digging. "My sensors are picking up Guardian GoBot activity!" he shouts joyfully. "I think we're getting closer!" Matt and A.J. cheer wildly as Scooter redoubles his efforts.

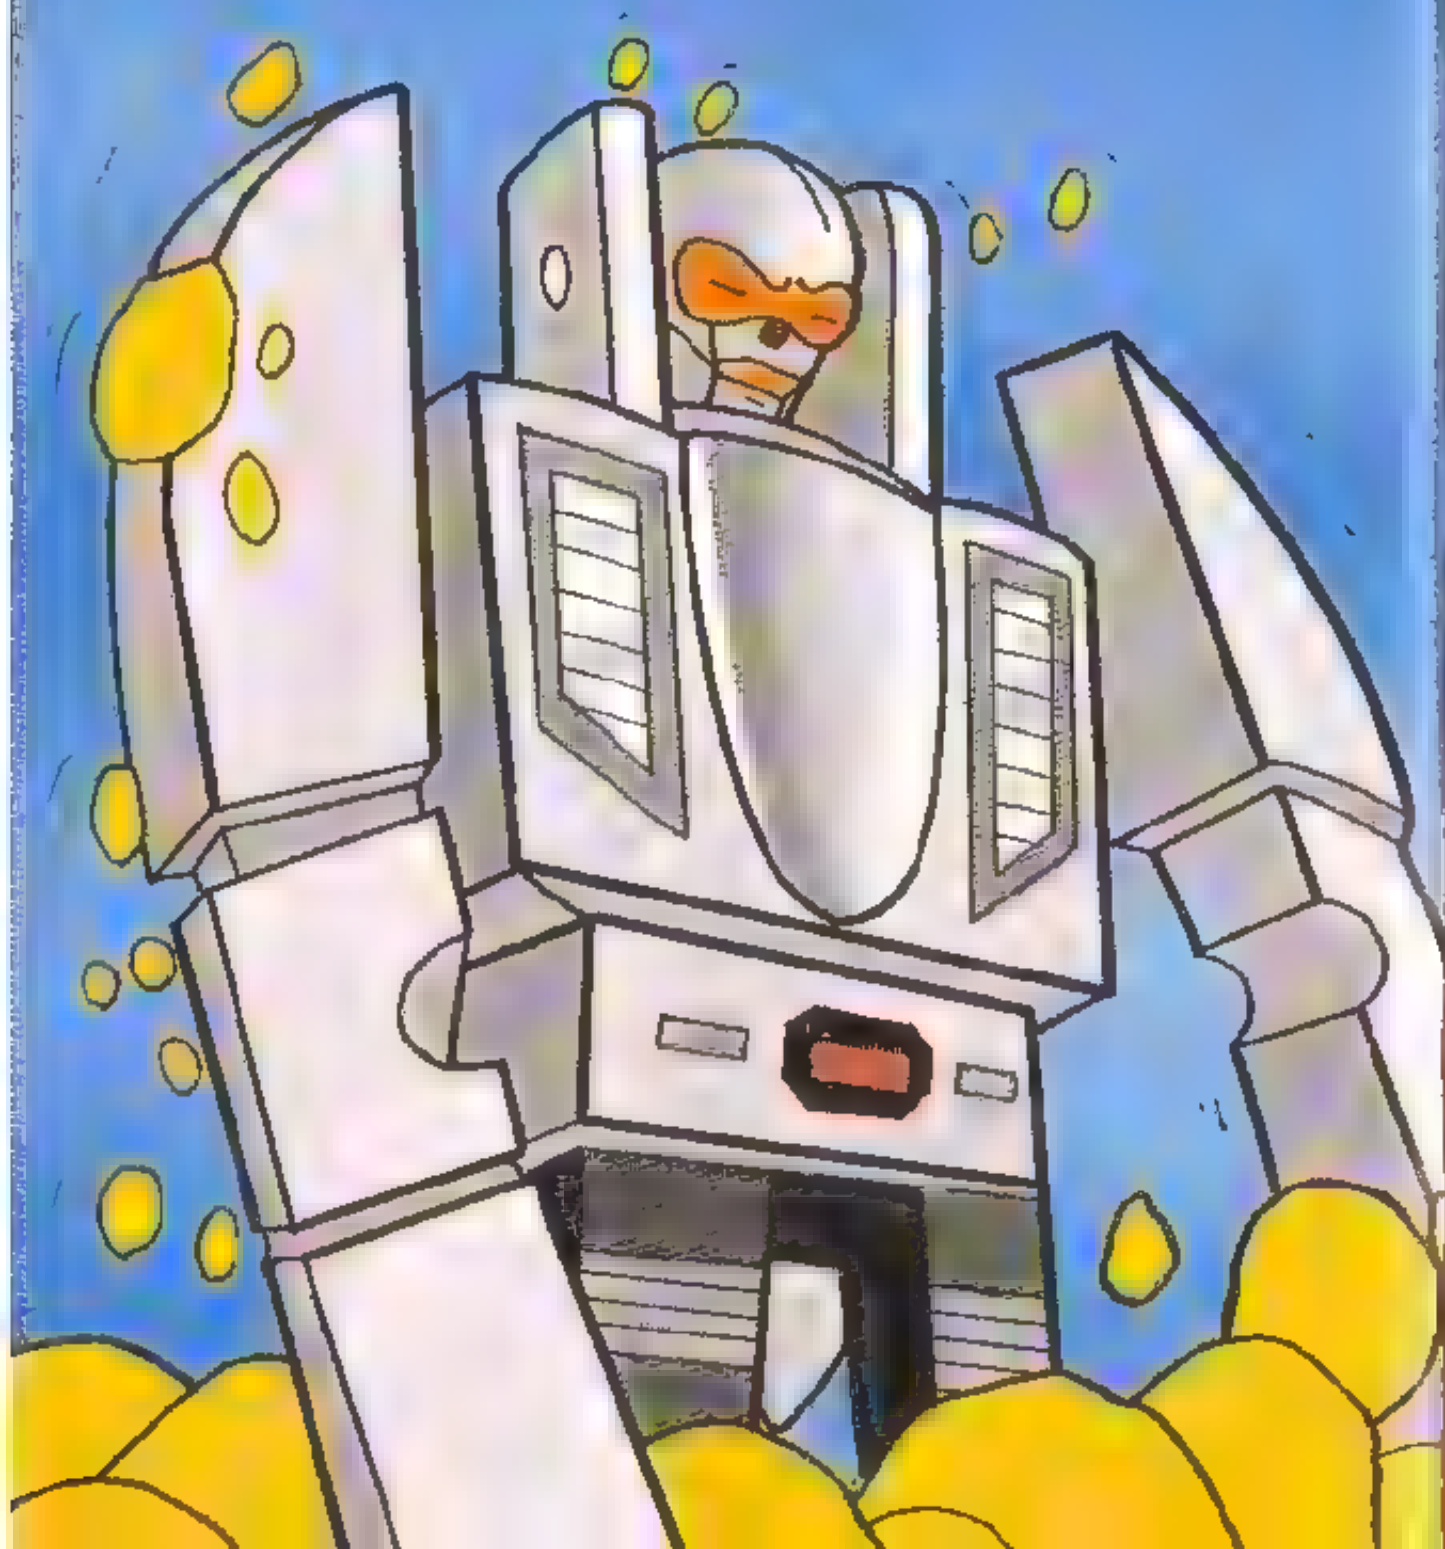

Tension mounts as Scooter digs deeper. Hopes rise. And then Scooter's bucket strikes metal and within minutes the hunched figure of Leader-1 is revealed among the rocks. He still has Turbo in his arms.

Leader-1 rises to his feet, showering rock.

"Are you ok?" asks A.J.

"My transmitter took a knock and my circuits are feeling pretty scrambled, but as soon as I've recharged I'll be ready to fight!"

But back at the Guardian Command Centre, Nick has a shock for them. "There's no time to recharge!" he explains. "The Renegades are on their way to destroy the city!"

"Come on," says Leader-1 to Scooter. "We've got to stop them!"

"Nervous?" asks Leader-1 as the Guardians zoom through the air. Scooter nods. "I'd have felt better with Turbo alongside," Leader-1 continues. "I think I've only got one good shot left." Scooter shivers. "Me too."

They catch up with the Renegades at the edge of the city.

"So, you managed to escape?" sneers Cy-Kill. "You would have been better off under that rock!"

"Bash! Crash! Smash!" wails Crasher.

Crasher and Cop-Tur advance on Scooter. As the bullying Renegades make ready to fire, Scooter cuts in his rockets. Scooter soars upwards and Crasher's blast whistles under him and slams into Cop-Tur!

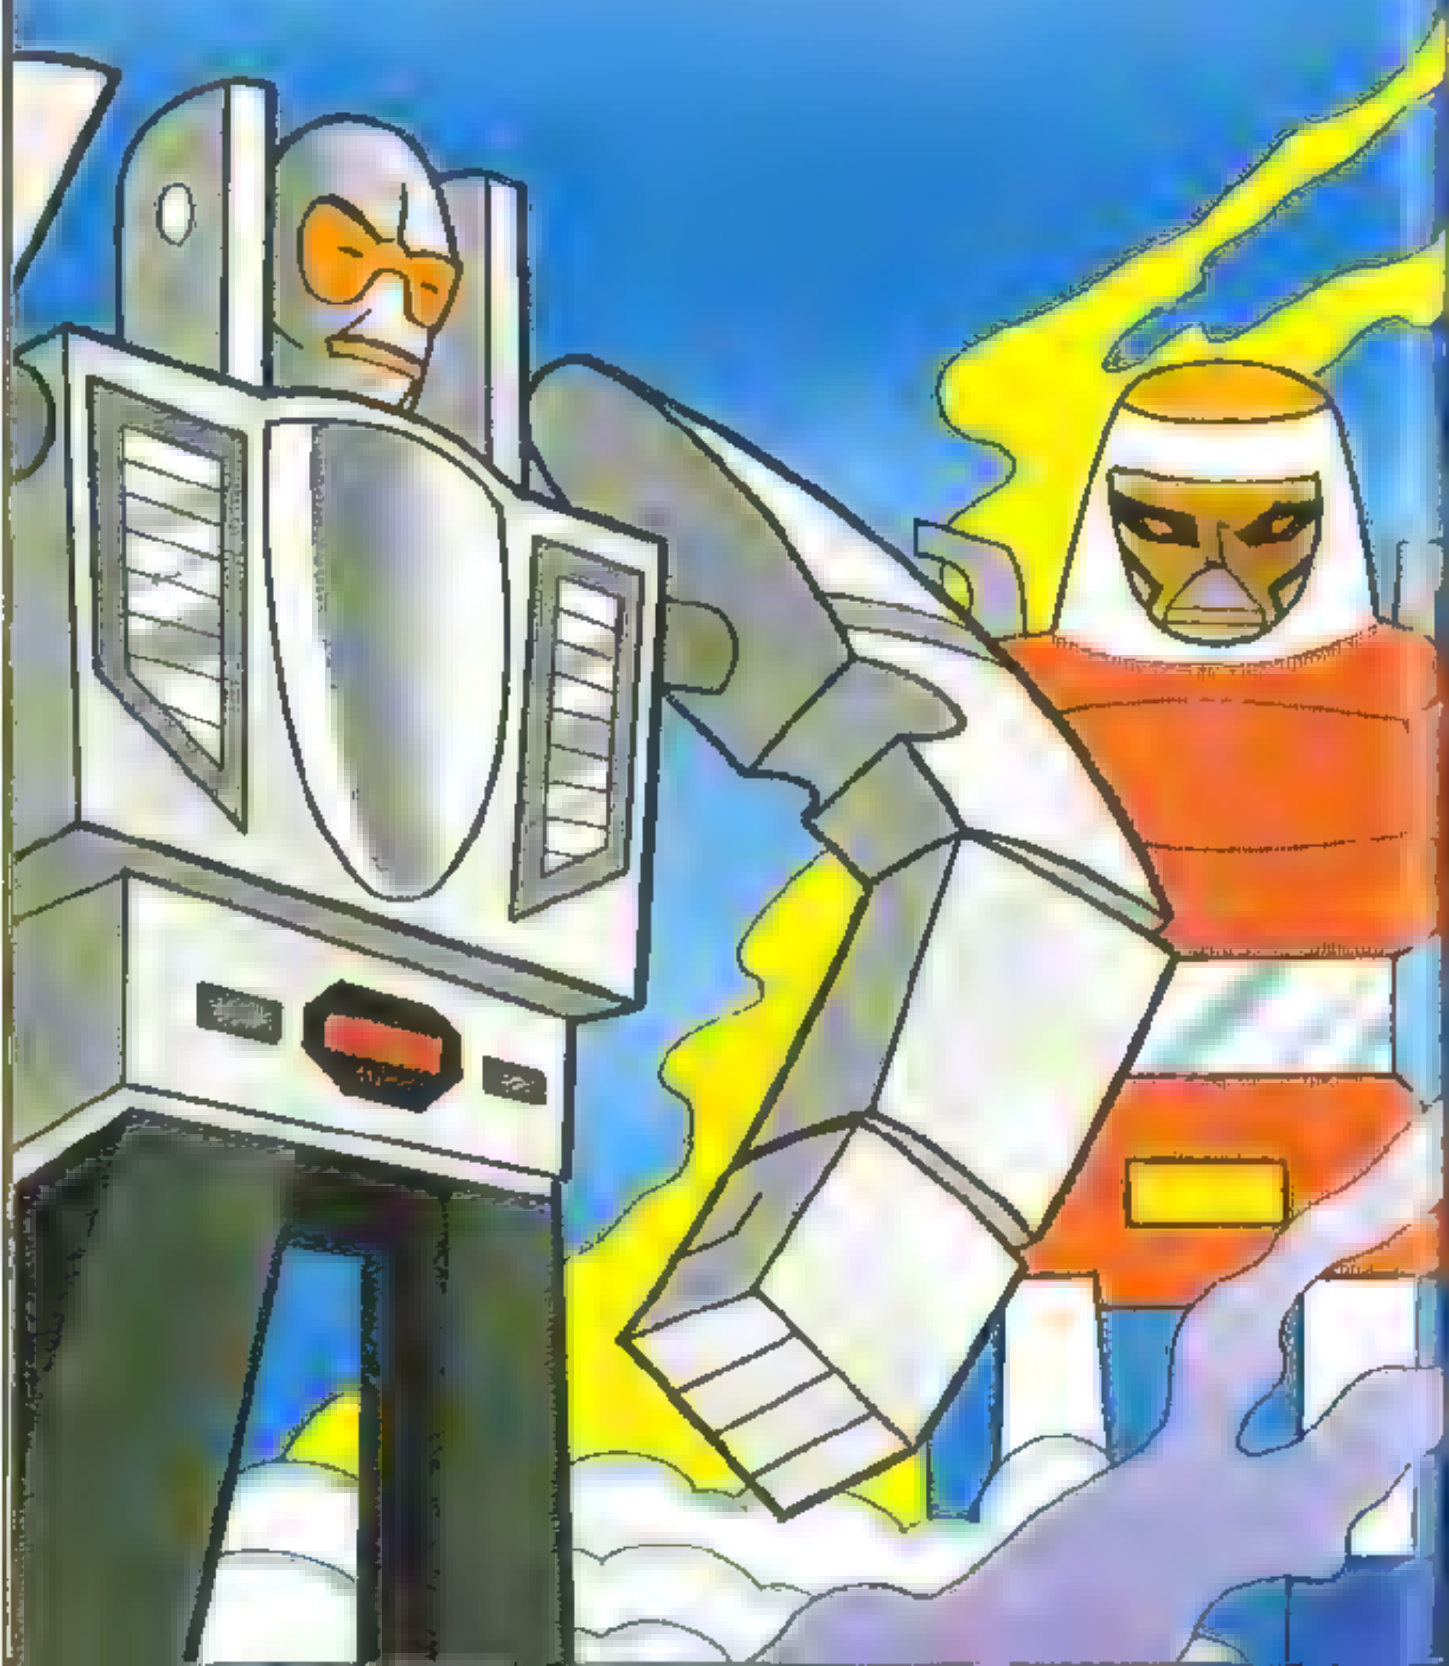

Still in the air, Scooter hits Crasher with a beam blast. Leader-1 ducks a badly aimed salvo from Cy-Kill and responds with a single beam to the evil leader's body. The three Renegades, circuits smoking, stagger round in circles!

"We've got to go back for recharging!"
Leader-1 warns Cy-Kill. "But we'll be coming after you!"

"Yeah," Scooter joins in. "You GoBots better learn it doesn't pay to mess with the Guardians!"

At the Command Centre, Leader-1 and Scooter recharge while Nick and Matt help Turbo fix his circuits.

"It's been quite a day," observes A.J. "You have really been in the wars."

"Maybe," agrees Leader-1. "But not half so much as those Renegades!"
